What do you love most about your job?

Jenn:

I really love the education aspect that we place on enrollment. I'm a true educator at heart, and it's important for me to help employees understand what benefits are available for them. I love that we go the extra mile. You know, benefits can be overwhelming, so it's important that employees understand the benefits available to them. And we don't all take in information the same way. Some of us are auditory learners. Some of us like to read, or some of us like to hear information from a group meeting and ask direct questions.

So we can provide all of those different areas and ways to reach employees.
